

Faculty Profile

Name: Dr. NVSNM Ganesh Sinisetty

Designation: Assistant Professor

Teaching Areas: English for Communication

Research Interests: Linguistics and Phonetics, Speech Processing, Language Teaching.

Education:

PhD in Linguistics and Phonetics, EFL University, Hyderabad, 2016

Post Graduate Diploma of Teaching English, EFL University, Hyderabad, 2009

Master of Arts, Andhra University (A.U. Arts College), Visakhapatnam, 2007

PG Diploma in Linguistics, Andhra University (A.U. Arts College), Visakhapatnam, 2007

Bachelor of Arts, Andhra University, Visakhapatnam, 2005

Professional Experience (Total: Inclusive of Teaching and Industrial)

1. (07/2017 – till date): Assistant Professor, ICFAI Foundation for Higher Education, Hyderabad
2. (2016-17): Assistant Professor, MITS, Madanapalle
3. (2016-17): Visiting Faculty in Linguistics, Samvaad Institute of Speech and Hearing, Bangalore
4. (2010-16): Full time research scholar (PhD programme) at EFL University, Hyderabad. (Involved in teaching assistance, research assistance and in research projects).
5. (2007-08): Assistant Professor, ANITS, Visakhapatnam
6. (06/2007-12/2007 – 6 months): Assistant Professor, Samyuktha Degree College, Anakapalle, Visakhapatnam.

Research / Selected Publications:

1. Gupta, G and Indranil, D. The role of labiolingual gestural coordination in spatiotemporal facilitation of speech production in Turkish, Turkmen and Hindi. In the proceedings of the 18th International Congress of Speech Sciences, pp. 10-14th August, 792 – 799, Glasgow, August 2015.
2. Gupta, Ganesh and Indranil Dutta. Labial coarticulatory resistance to vowel harmony in Telugu. In proceedings of French Acoustical Society and the Acoustical Society of India, pp. 999 – 1004, 10-15th November, 2013, New Delhi.
3. Satya H.Y, Gupta, GandDas.P. Causative Formation in Telugu. Occasional papers in linguistics, Vol No. 15, April 2011.