Event Report- Thrithi 2026 (Undergraduate Fest)

Date: 2nd April, 2026 - 4th April, 2026

Venue: IFHE Hyderabad Campus

Introduction:

The annual college fest *Thrithi 2026, conducted from 2nd April, 2026 - 4th April, 2026, served as a vibrant platform celebrating talent, creativity, and academic excellence. The fest hosted a diverse array of competitions across intellectual, artistic, and cultural spheres. These events witnessed enthusiastic participation from students across various departments and institutions. As part of this celebration, ISOSS successfully conducted several events along with other schools under IFHE.

Event Highlights:

Day 1:

1. The Profiling Room : Where Behaviour Becomes Evidence

The event was designed to test participants' analytical thinking, observation skills, and understanding of human behavior through an engaging and intellectually stimulating format. The competition was structured across three progressive rounds. In each round, teams were presented with layered case files containing clues, behavioral patterns, and psychological insights. Participants were required to carefully analyze the information, construct suspect profiles, and refine their conclusions as new evidence was introduced. The final round challenged teams to defend their profiling decisions with logical reasoning and psychological justification.

The event witnessed enthusiastic participation, with teams actively engaging in discussions, critical thinking, and strategic decision-making. It provided a unique platform for students to apply theoretical psychological concepts in a practical, real-world scenario.

Overall, The Profiling Room was a well-received event that stood out for its originality and intellectual depth, contributing significantly to the success of Thrithi 2026.

2. Finovate

The event aimed to encourage students to think creatively and apply financial concepts to real-world economic and policy challenges.

Participants competed in teams, where they were required to develop and present innovative solutions addressing contemporary financial issues. Each team worked on building simple yet structured ideas that combined sound financial logic with social impact and market relevance. The event emphasized clarity of thought, feasibility of solutions, and the ability to communicate ideas effectively.

The competition saw active participation, with teams showcasing originality, critical thinking, and a strong understanding of financial principles. The presentations reflected diverse perspectives, ranging from policy reforms to innovative financial models aimed at solving practical problems.

Overall, Finovate proved to be an engaging and insightful event that fostered innovation and financial awareness among students, making it a valuable addition to the success of Thrithi 2026.

Day2:

1. Vox Populi - Mock Parliament

The event provided students with a dynamic platform to experience the functioning of a parliamentary system through a realistic simulation.

Participants assumed roles as Members of Parliament, ministers, and the Speaker, representing different political parties. The session revolved around debating a contemporary bill, where students actively engaged in delivering speeches, raising points of order, and proposing amendments in accordance with parliamentary procedures.

The event witnessed enthusiastic participation, with students demonstrating strong communication skills, critical thinking, and a deep understanding of governance and policy-making. The debates were insightful and well-structured, reflecting both preparation and awareness of current issues.

Overall, Vox Populi – Mock Parliament was an intellectually enriching and engaging event that successfully highlighted the importance of democratic processes and public discourse, contributing significantly to the success of Thrithi 2026.

2. Canvas Carnival 2.0

The event aimed to provide a vibrant platform for students to showcase their artistic creativity and spontaneity.

Participants were given canvases and painting materials, and a surprise theme was revealed at the beginning of the event. Within the stipulated time, contestants were required to conceptualize and create artwork that effectively captured the essence of the theme while demonstrating their artistic skills and techniques.

The event witnessed enthusiastic participation, with students producing diverse and visually striking pieces. Each artwork reflected originality, imagination, and a strong sense of interpretation under time constraints. The competitive yet creative atmosphere made the event both engaging and inspiring.

Overall, Canvas Carnival 2.0 was a lively and successful event that celebrated creativity and talent, adding color and artistic flair to the overall success of Thrithi 2026.

Day-3:

The final day of Thrithi 2026 was a perfect blend of recognition, rhythm, and revelry. With smiles, applause, and dancing feet, the event came to a close, not as an end, but as a lasting memory etched in the hearts of all who attended. The day celebrated achievement and togetherness, echoing the spirit of Thrithi, a festival of youth, talent, and shared dreams.

As the music faded and the lights dimmed, one thing remained clear: Thrithi 2026 was not just a fest, it was an experience.
